

What to Expect while at di Sogno Photography

Professional photographic sessions truly capture moments in time. When the viewer looks at the images created during the session, whether it's tomorrow or many years in to the future, the memories of those cherished moments immediately take them back to that place and time.

Scheduling your session and consultation

The first step in creating those moments is scheduling a consultation session with us. During this meeting we will get to know one another by discussing your goals for the photography session and mutually set expectations. With your goals in mind, we will craft a session that meets these goals.

You'll visit our studio, have an opportunity to see some of our products, and become familiar with where you will be, what you will be doing, and what equipment will be used during your session.

We'll schedule a date and time for your session and reserve it with a fully refundable retainer which will be applied to the total investment in your images.

The day of your session

On the day of your session please arrive approximately 15 minutes prior to you scheduled session. This provides the time to de-stress from traffic or other problems and focus on the goals of your session. It also allows you time to gather any clothing changes or props you've brought with you to the studio and to touch up your make-up and hair in the dressing room.

You'll then move in to the studio, and we'll start making those dream moments come true.

Proofs

Depending on the type of session and the time available, we will schedule a time for you to view your proofs in our consultation/proofing room. This may be at the end of your session or several days later. During the proofing session, you will make choices of which images, quantities, sizes, paper and any customizations you wish to have. Once your choices are made, we can begin the production process with a payment of 50% of your total investment.

Depending on which items you have ordered, your finished products will be ready for you in a few days to a few weeks. Final payment is due when your order is complete.
